

Sterling Phillips

Chief Executive Officer

GTSI Corporation

Mr. Phillips joined Aurora's Board of Directors in 2008.

Mr. Phillips is the Chief Executive Officer at GTSI Corporation. Previously, he was a Venture Partner with FirstMark Capital, LLC, formerly Pequot Ventures. Prior to joining FirstMark Capital, Mr. Phillips served for six years as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Analex Corporation, a publicly traded federal professional services firm that was acquired in March 2007 by QinetiQ North America. Prior to Analex, Mr. Phillips was Senior Vice President of Federal Data Corporation (now part of Northrop Grumman), as well as President of the Federal Business Development division of Computer Sciences Corporation. Previously, Mr. Phillips was with the IBM Corporation where he progressed through a variety of technical, marketing and general management assignments, which included being an executive in the Federal Systems Division (now a part of Lockheed Martin).

Mr. Phillips received his Bachelors degree in Psychology (1968) from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.